

I think I'd like some coffee.

---

bean Sidhe 65 posts since

Oct 5, 2006

So, I'm asking you all if I should have some, or if I should go with some decaffeinated tea instead. My mug absolutely refuses not to have something in it and I'm at my wit's end.

So, you other mug owners, please give me your input before I can make this decision. It's so very important to me to make my little mug happy.

nwrirunner 28 posts since

Feb 15, 2005 1. Re: I think I'd like some coffee. Nov 19, 2007 7:16 PM

Hmm.. Depends on the tea. I say decaf, unless it's Green Tea or somethin'.

RioG 199 posts since

Apr 1, 2004 2. Re: I think I'd like some coffee. Nov 19, 2007 7:19 PM

quote:

Originally posted by nwrirunner:

Hmm.. Depends on the tea. I say decaf, unless it's Green Tea or somethin'.

My suggestion would be decaf green tea. My post 7pm-my-mug-needs-something-staple.

fla\_girl 75 posts since

Dec 13, 2007 3. Re: I think I'd like some coffee. Nov 19, 2007 7:46 PM

Coffee with a chunk of frozen cool whip. Yummmm.

ellenshana 323 posts since

I think I'd like some coffee.

Dec 14, 2007 4. Re: I think I'd like some coffee. Nov 19, 2007 8:59 PM

How is this even a question, an issue? Every mug needs coffee. slap

CLB018 91 posts since

Nov 1, 2006 5. Re: I think I'd like some coffee. Nov 19, 2007 9:01 PM

I'm pretty certain you need a generous bowl of ice cream with your coffee as well.