At the bottom of the longer threads, could you please put back the last page so you don't have to click into the first and then go to the last?? Thanks!!

I'll send that info along. Thanks Valerie!

Anyone else have feedback? I think it looks a lot cleaner and its easier to use. Would you agree? It is a work in progress and there will be more to come. I'll keep you all posted though.

Hey Sara,

I really like the layout. Anxious to see the next round of changes. So far. so good!!

I noticed on this weeks Half Marathon thread in the Newbie Cafe forum that going from page 2 to 3 does not seem to work - this is using the page numbers at the top of the thread - the ones at the bottom see OK - I end up at the Active threads error screen -

Someone else also mentioned they couldn't figure out how to turn off e-mail alerts anymore

I like the new layout - I like that you see a little of each post with the subject something else that is slightly odd - the posters info / photo for the first post does not seem to be formatted correctly - it sort of ends up hanging half way between the message and the avatar space - all replies look fine - just the initial post

The latest half marathoners thread started Sunday is still a little screwy

the page navigations are also still broken unless you are logged in
